HELPFUL HINTS FOR MEN.

THE VALUE AND SIGNIFICANCE OF DRESS.

Did you ever realize what an important part dress plays in this age?
 It has won success for some men.
 It has won for some men golden friendships and good opinions from their fellows.
 It has been the factor which has kept some men from rising in the world.
 It is distinctive of the man himself.
 Therefore, it behooves men to pay careful attention to their personal attire. The man in the business world who pays but little attention to his dress is seriously handicapped. He need not be dressed flashily, but he should be attired neatly in well tailored clothes. There is nothing which lowers a man in the estimation of his friends like shabby dressing.
 The well dressed man is a pleasure to behold. You feel that it is good to associate with him. He need not be wealthy; he need not be of blue blood; but if he is well attired he would be looked upon with favor by persons on all sides.
 There is nothing so fine as to receive "golden opinions from all sorts of people."

The man who is well dressed will be held in such esteem. Through his dress many a man has won lasting friends, and conversely, because of his shabby attire, many another man has been repulsed by society. To dress poorly is a handicap on all sides, whether in business, in home life, or in the social circle.
 As a man dresses, so is he. By his attire, ye shall know him. There is nothing which portrays the characteristic of a man so clearly and unmistakably as his dress. You can read in his dress slovenliness or neatness, pride or carelessness, ambition or sloth, vanity or soberness, radicalism or conservatism.
 It will be noticed that the modes of dress of the various ages accurately delineate the characteristics of those periods. In the days of knighthood the dress in its distinctive way spoke of valor and hardiness and freedom and romanticism. Ages before when the world was in its childhood and the inhabitants were little better than savages the people were only partially clad, their scanty clothing consisting of skins of the wild beasts. This method of dress bespoke primitiveness, lack of experience, and in some cases lack of moral sensitiveness.

 In the age of puritanism simplicity was the keynote. It was an age of extreme simplicity, and the dress of those times told of meekness, conservatism, and sobriety. Times have changed. The world has grown and expanded and the dress to-day is well adapted to the times.
 There is something of progressiveness, impetuosity, and ambition which can be read in it.
 Men should show taste in dress, and attire themselves in those clothes which will best display their characteristics. A boy should dress in clothes which are suited to his age—simple, serviceable arrangements. The young man who is full of life and vigor should dress in more flashy robes. As he advances in years he should tone his dress down. When he reaches the sunset years of his life he should bett the age by donning garments of a more staid and sober appearance.
 Dressing should adapt itself to surrounding conditions—the characteristics of the age, the manners of the wearer and his own age.

Solar Plexus Given Cupid by Postmaster

Love Missives Between Youthful Swains Now Held Up at General Delivery Window—Order from Parents Necessary for Mail.

Outlawed Cupid has been dealt a disastrous blow by the local post-office authorities.
 Those girls of the lovable high school age who formerly appeared so regularly at the general delivery window of the city post-office to receive clandestine missives from lovers barred by either papa or mamma from calling at the house to see daughter will be turned away empty handed in the future.
 The postal authorities have issued an order to the effect that all minors appearing at the general delivery window for mail must produce specific instructions from their parents or guardians.
 The dear girls are at their wit's end and so are their lovers. The clerks at the general delivery windows give themselves greatly amused.
 Order is in Effect.
 The order issued a few days ago was placed in effect yesterday. Several young girls called at the window during the course of the day and asked for mail.
 "How old are you?" asked the clerk as one of the belles stepped up to the window. The young girl looked in amazement at her interrogator. She turned white, and then the color returned, and her cheeks became very red.
 "Sir," she retorted, "what business is that of yours?"

WOOL TRUST HEAD IS FACING SUITS

Damage Actions to Be Filed in the Dynamiting Case in Lawrence.

Boston, Aug. 31.—Suits for damages aggregating many thousands of dollars will probably be brought against President William M. Wood, of the American Woolen Company, in case he should be found guilty of the charge of plotting to plant the dynamite found in Lawrence at the time of the great textile strike. The suits are contemplated by property owners on whose premises the explosive was found.
 Urbana Di Prato and Joseph Asaf, two residents of Lawrence, in whose houses dynamite was found, have already brought suits for $5,000 damages each against John J. Breck, the Lawrence undertaker, who was convicted of planting the dynamite. According to hints that came from the Department of Justice, the Federal probe and probable prosecution will be founded on the planting of dynamite in a freight car in Lawrence that was engaged in interstate traffic. A Federal law provides a heavy penalty for dynamite shipped in interstate commerce which is not labeled as such. Nineteen sticks of the explosive were found tied to the trucks of a freight car which passed through Lawrence. The car was filled with paper and was assigned to a Philadelphia firm.
 It had been shipped from Wyman, Flint & Sons, of Bellows Falls, Vt.
 Expect Other Indictments.
 District Attorney Pellitteri has not finished his investigation of the case by any means; it was learned to-day. From talk about the court house and in other circles it was strongly hinted that startling developments might be expected from this end of the case within a few days.
 One of the possibilities in the indictment of another high official of the American Woolen Company.
 The district attorney is said to be indicted by the grand jury for complicity in an alleged dynamiting plot was the report current.
 The district attorney is said to have obtained additional evidence, which he will present to the grand jury when it meets next week.
 The third man in the case, who has been ill, will be arrested next week, and the three defendants will then be formally arraigned.
 Seek Boy Murderer.
 Chicago, Aug. 31.—Police to-day are seeking Tony Bruno, fifteen years old, who shot and killed Solomon Golop, fourteen, in a quarrel at the McLaren playgrounds. More than 100 children at the grounds at the time saw the crime.
 Bruno, accused Golop of having stolen his coat. A fight started, and in the midst of it Bruno drew a revolver and shot Golop three times. Then he fled.

Keepers at the Zoo Help Snakes Undress

This Is the Time of the Year When Reptiles Take Off Their Summer Clothing for the Winter.

When Lizzie, the pet rattlesnake of the Washington Zoo, was being skinned to improve her complexion the other day she gazed reproachfully at her keeper over the back of the tonie which she held in her mouth. Lizzie felt that though Washington might be ahead in some things, a snake was not given much of a show to make things interesting here as in other cities.
 In New York, for example, the rattlesnake and poisonous reptiles are pushed out of their cages at the point of a forked stick, and then pursued around the park until finally pinned down at its point, when the skinning takes place.
 This gives the snake some chance to make things lively. In a spirit of fair play, the keepers omit leather gloves and other means of protection, and the snake has a chance to test the quality of its poison since its period of confinement.
 Call Bull Moose.
 Rockville, Md., Aug. 31.—Progressives of Montgomery County will open the Roosevelt-Johnson campaign at a meeting to be held in the town hall at Rockville next Tuesday afternoon. A general call for the meeting has been sent out by Owen L. Tink, Charles J. Fox, D. W.
 Baker, and other members of the Roosevelt committee, addressed to all voters of the county, irrespective of former party affiliations, who are in favor of Progressive principles and the Roosevelt-Johnson ticket.
